Future Farmers Capture Prizes At Wauconda

Local Entrants Win 40 Ribbons at Vocational Fair

Thirteen Antioch Future Farmers of the Antioch High school brought home forty ribbons from the Section III Vocational Fair held at Wauconda Saturday.

The most outstanding showing was made by Joe Carney in the White Plymouth Rock classes when he made a clean sweep by winning the blue ribbons in the pullet, cockerel, and young pen classes. The White Rock classes were the largest at the show. Carney also won second in a large capon show.

Norman Edwards also made a fine showing when he won three blue ribbons in the Brown Leghorn classes. His Wyandotte entries won second, fifth and sixth placing.

Hybrid Corn Scores

Wayne Drom displayed what is considered the best display of hybrid corn ever to be shown by local Future Farmers. In a class of approximately forty entries, Drom won first in the shelled corn class and third in the bushel of ear corn class. These two samples of corn are on display in the show window at the Williams Department store, Antioch, during this week.

Gordon Severson won a blue on Barred Plymouth Rock cock. His Barred Rock hen placed second. He also received second on Brown Leghorn cockerel, fourth on Brown Leghorn young pen, and seventh on capon.

Albert Smith received first on a New Hampshire Red hen and old pen. He also received a second on N. H. Red cock, fifth on cockerel, seventh on young pen, and eighth on pullet.

Melvin Haney won two red ribbons and a fourth on his three Brown Leghorn entries.

Milton Smith won three fifth places and a sixth on his Buff Plymouth Rock entries.

Richard Hartnell won a third on brown eggs, and a fourth, fifth and a sixth on New Hampshire Red poultry.

Henry Lubkeman won a third on a honey display.

Lincoln Garwood received a seventh placing on late potatoes.

Max Wurzbach had an eighth on White Rock cockerel and a ninth on brown eggs.

Robert Bolton received a ninth place ribbon on a bushel of ear corn.

Also Place

Other Antioch boys who placed in the money but failed to receive ribbons were Arnold Bolton, Jack Flannagan, and Allan Latham.

These poultry, corn and grain displays were from home projects raised by the students under supervision of the Department of Vocational Agriculture of the Antioch Township High school with C. L. Kutil as director.

Joe Carney, Melvin Haney, and Milton Smith accompanied Mr. Kutil to Wauconda with the large display from the Antioch school.

Antioch Boys Named In November Draft

N. Chicago Board Reveals Names of 24 to Be Inducted Nov. 28

Among the 24 young men who will be inducted into the army on Nov. 28 are Robert Donald Strang, Antioch; John Benjamin Collins, Edward Walter, Paske, and Willard Harry Christensen, Lake Villa; Donald Arney Allen, Grayslake; and John August Thorpe, Jr., of Fox Lake. Others in the list announced by County Board No. 3 in North Chicago were selected from North Shore towns.

The list includes the board's November selective service quota of 22 plus two other men transferred to the board for induction.

Chicago Chiropractic Society Elects Biron

Dr. W. A. Biron of Antioch will be installed as president of the Chicago Chiropractic society at a Christmas banquet to be held in the Hotel LaSalle, Chicago, Dec. 14. He was elected at a meeting held in the hotel Sunday, and is one of the youngest men to hold this position in many years. The society is composed of licensed chiropractors from the Chicago area and eight neighboring counties, including Lake, and is part of the Illinois Chiropractic society.

ANTIOCH LIONS AND FESTIVAL AIDES ENJOY PARTY AT THE ROUNDUP

Antioch Lions club members and guests dined, danced and were entertained by a musician Monday night at the Round Up. The occasion was the annual party for those who assisted the Club at the annual festival held last August. About a hundred were present.

The supper was served buffet style and the eats were heaped high on the serving table, with roast wild duck as one of the main dishes. Many were observed going back for "seconds." The food was that good. There was lively community singing during the meal with President Bob King directing and Mrs. E. J. Hays at the piano.

Following the meal, Pres. King announced the entertainment for the evening and introduced a magician—that gay deceiver, Jack Staley of Chicago—who produced a bag of tricks that had the audience pop-eyed for the greater part of the performance.

A social hour and dancing followed the special entertainment, with Magician Staley carrying on with his magic during the entire evening among groups, and many were victims of his mirth-provoking hocus pocus stunts.

The party is an annual event given for friends who have aided the Lions club during the year.

McMillen May Be Called for Navy Instruction Work

Antioch Man Recommended as Director of Athletics at Navy Pier

Although no official confirmation has been received, reports have been current for the past month that James McMillen of Antioch, nationally known figure in the athletic world, may be called into service in the U. S. navy as an instructor for the naval reserve.

McMillen informed the Antioch News of this possibility several weeks ago, stating, however, that although he was arranging his business affairs to meet this contingency, he had not as yet received an official appointment, and asking that his confidence of the news be respected. Rumors have, however, been released from other sources.

In the event that the appointment goes through, it is expected that he will be stationed at Navy pier in Chicago, and he has already been asked to check over equipment in the gymnasium there and to give some thought to the selection of a staff to assist him.

McMillen, an honors graduate of the University of Illinois, a member of the Antioch Township High school board, vice-president of the Chicago Bears, and a member of the Antioch fire department and rescue squad, is believed by those who have studied his career to be fitted for work as an instructor by reason of his leadership and business administration experience, as well as by reason of his educational training and well-rounded athletic experience.

Should his appointment be confirmed, he would bear the rank of lieutenant.

In his work at the newly established base at Navy pier, he would supervise the physical training of thousands of young men who are expected to receive part of their navy education there during the coming year.

Mrs. Elms is Elected H.S.P.T.A. President

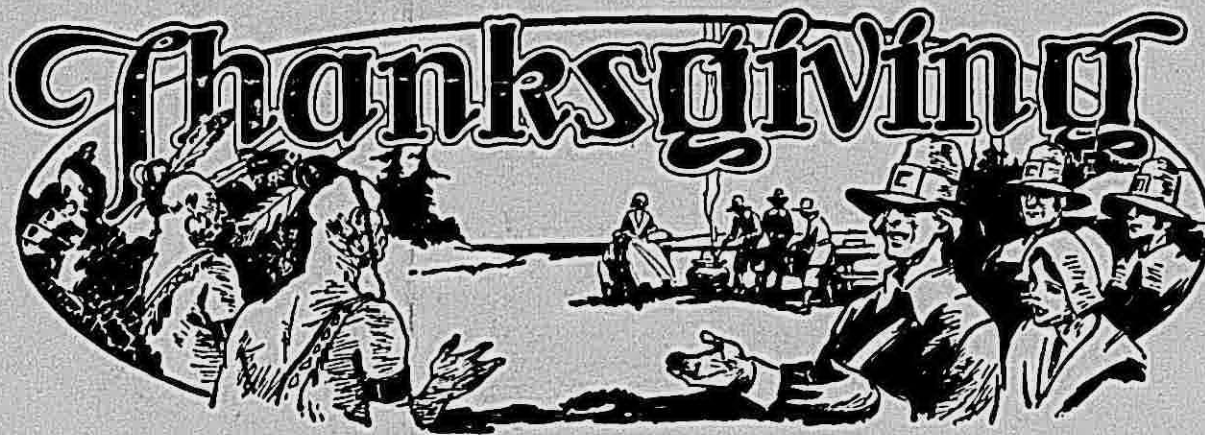

Forty parents and teachers attended the first meeting this fall of the High School Parent-Teachers' association of Antioch.

In the absence of a president, Mrs. William G. Zeigler, of Round Lake, district chairman of P. T. A., presided until new officers were installed. Mrs. Curtis Wells, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the following slate of officers: Mrs. Irving Elms, president; William Upton, vice president; Miss Geraldine Ross, secretary; William Jones, treasurer; and Mrs. Pearl Chase, historian.

A unanimous vote was cast and Mrs. Zeigler officiated in the installation of the new officers.

The regular meeting date was set for the third Monday in each month. Principal J. O. Austin introduced all the teachers and parents. A social hour followed.

Mrs. Elmer Hunter, retiring worthy matron of the Antioch Eastern Star chapter, will serve as worthy matron at the Genoa City Friends' Night observance Tuesday evening.

Washington's Thanksgiving Proclamation

Issued in 1789

Whereas it is the duty of all nations to acknowledge the providence of Almighty God, to obey His will, to be grateful for His benefits, and humbly implore His protection and favor; and whereas both Houses of Congress have, by their joint committee, requested me to recommend to the people of the United States a day of Public Thanksgiving and Prayer, to be observed by acknowledging with grateful hearts the many and signal favors of Almighty God, especially by affording them an opportunity peaceably to establish a form of government for their safety and happiness;

Now, therefore, I do recommend and assign Thursday, the twenty-sixth day of November next, to be devoted by the people of these States to the service of that great and glorious Being, who is the Beneficent Author of all the good that was, that is, or that will be; that we may then all unite in rendering unto Him our sincere and humble thanks for His kind care and protection of the people of this country, previous to their becoming a nation; for the signal and manifold mercies, and the favorable interpositions of His providence, in the course and conclusion of the late war; for the peaceable and rational manner in which we have been enabled to establish Constitutions of Government for our safety and happiness, and particularly the national one now lately instituted; for the civil and religious liberty with which we are blessed, and the means we have of acquiring and diffusing useful knowledge; and, in general, for all the great and various favors, which He has been pleased to confer upon us.

And, also that we may then unite in most humbly offering our prayers and supplications to the Great Lord and Ruler of Nations, and beseech Him to pardon our national and other transgressions; to enable us all, whether in public or private stations, to perform our several and relative duties properly and punctually; to render our National Government a blessing to all the people, by constantly being a government of wise, just, and constitutional laws, discreetly and faithfully executed and obeyed; to protect and guide all sovereigns and nations (especially such as have shown kindness to us) and to bless them with good governments, peace and concord; to promote the knowledge and practice of true religion and virtue, and the increase of science, among them and us; and, generally, to grant unto all mankind such a degree of temporal prosperity as He alone knows to be best.

Pollock to Continue In Florist Business

Moves Shop to 807 N. Main; to Dismantle Greenhouses for Winter

His eighteen years' successful career as a florist will be continued by S. E. Pollock, although on a smaller scale, it was announced this week.

Pollock, who has operated the greenhouses at 328 North avenue with signal success ever since he had them built in 1923, has been obliged to limit the scope of his business for reasons of health.

He will, however, conduct a floral business at 807 North Main street, and will have bouquets, potted plants and floral arrangements available there for his patrons.

Although Mr. Pollock has been unable to be in the greenhouses for the past three months, due to illness, they have been operated under the charge of his staff of employees and his daughter, Mrs. Arthur Mapletorpe, with Pollock as adviser.

The greenhouses, which stand on property now owned by Mrs. William Schroeder, will probably be dismantled for the winter.

Pollock studied the florist industry at Palatine after deciding to retire from the ministry to enter the business world, in the early 1920's.

During the years he has spent in growing flowers, he has originated several new species, including a beautiful bronze-red chrysanthemum.

New Fire Station Planned at Wilmet

A special meeting was held by the Wilmet Fire department on Thursday evening, to elaborate on plans for its new fire house, which will be located just south of the dam on property which, years ago, housed the old creamery. The old brick structure, which had not been in use for many years, was torn down and cleared to make way for the new building, which will house the fire equipment.

Plans were drawn up and sent to Madison for approval. They have been approved and returned, and operations on the building, which will also contain a recreation room, will begin as soon as possible.

Twenty-five Out for H. S. Wrestling Team

Twenty-five students answered the call for candidates for a wrestling team to be formed at Antioch Township High school under the sponsorship of Assistant Coach M. H. Weiss.

Tentative plays for the wrestling team, which include meets with neighboring schools having wrestling teams and possibly a trip to the University of Chicago or Beloit, received a setback since the mat cover which previously had been used through the courtesy of Jim McMillen was claimed by its owner when he left for the navy.

Judge Dady Directs Verdict in Will Case

Failure of witnesses to appear at the scheduled hearing of the suit filed by relatives contesting the will of the late Mrs. Amy Wedge of Antioch, and a directed verdict by Judge Ralph J. Dady Tuesday in Circuit court, holding the will valid, tended to confirm the earlier reports that an agreement among the contestants had been reached outside of court. The will named Mrs. Gertrude A. Brooks of Antioch as trustee and one of the principal beneficiaries.

City Briefs

The Antioch fire department made a quick run to Channel Lake Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock when a grass fire spread to a small outbuilding on property owned by Mrs. Carrie Gahns and tenanted by Charles Bransky, Jr. Damages were estimated at $10.

The Antioch Township library will move into the quarters vacated by the Five and Ten Cent store as soon as re-decorating and alterations are completed. The library expects to have its removal completed by Dec. 1.

The Antioch Five and Ten Cent store has completed removal to its new quarters in the Chase Webb store building and has been open for business since Saturday, although the work of checking over new stock has not as yet been completed.

The Antioch Recreation bowling alleys will be closed from 12:30 o'clock till 3 p. m. Thursday afternoon, in order that the pin boys may have time off to enjoy their Thanksgiving dinners. Manager Louis Bauer announces. The alleys will, however, be open from 10:30 a. m. to 12:30, and again after three o'clock. The Antioch Business league will bowl Thursday evening, as usual, it was decided by vote of the various teams.

Vincent Dupre, Waukegan, formerly of Antioch, was granted a divorce Saturday from Mrs. Gladys Dupre, Chicago, charging desertion. They were married July 23, 1938, at Clinton, Ia.

There will be no classes at Antioch Grade school or Antioch Township High school this Thursday or Friday, when the Thanksgiving holidays will be observed.

Federal agents who are making a tour of inspection of taverns and liquor stores in this part of the state, checking up on possible violations of the federal revenue law as applied to the bottling and sale of liquor, visited Antioch taverns and the Antioch Liquor store Monday. They found no violations of any importance here, they reported.

Mrs. Della Maas entertained the Triple-Three pinocle club at her home at Indian Point Tuesday afternoon. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Maas and Mrs. Elizabeth Anzinger. Mrs. Anzinger also won the grand prize for pinocle. A luncheon was served following the games.

Albert E. Jack Services Held

Was One of First Members of Antioch Twp. High School Board

Interment in Millburn cemetery followed funeral services for Albert E. Jack, 80, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the First Congregational church of Waukegan. Mr. Jack died Wednesday night at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Howard E. Smith of Gurnee.

Mr. Jack was one of the first members of the Antioch High school board.

From 1906 to 1924 he managed two farms near Millburn. He was active in the Farmers' Institute, predecessor of the Lake County Farm bureau, and the Millburn Congregational church.

He was born at Delmont, Pa. In 1879 he was graduated from Lake Forest academy. He also attended Lake Forest college and later studied at Princeton, Harvard and the University of Berlin.

In 1891 he became professor of English literature at Lake Forest college, a position he held until 1906, when he gave it up to engage in farming. In 1924 he moved from Millburn to Waukegan, and became engaged in real estate business there and in Chicago. During the past year he had made his home with his daughter.

Survivors include his daughters, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Sidney Treboch of Hinsdale, Ill., Mrs. Harry Collom of Western Springs; his sons, Stanley of Waukegan, Elmer of Dyer, Ind., and Marshall of Kansas City, Mo., and three sisters. His wife preceded him in death eight years ago.

Nielsen's Corners Place Leased to William Dunworth

Nielsen's Corners, the barbecue stand and service station at the junction of Routes 59 and Grass Lake road, south-west of Antioch, which has become a landmark among vacationists, hunters and fishermen visiting the lake region, has been leased to Mr. and Mrs. William Dunworth.

The attractive lunch room-station was built by the Nielsens, who have operated it for 11 years. During that period "Louie" and "Rose" have made hundreds of friends, and have actively supported community efforts on behalf of the lake region.

They plan to enjoy a short rest from the hard work that made their place a success and won it a place of its own on maps of the lake area. They are at present staying at the Pregenger resort on Grass lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Dunworth, who have signed a five-year lease on the Nielsen place, formerly operated the Lake Region laundry and have many friends throughout this area.

"Slow Down -- and Save Lives!" Club Members are Urged

Lincoln H. Lippincott of the "Not Over 50" Club Is Heard by Men's Group

"Conserve life by driving safely," Lincoln H. Lippincott, secretary of the "Not Over 50" club urged members to the Antioch Men's Civic club at a dinner meeting Monday evening in Konig's restaurant. The "Not Over 50," he explained, refers, not to age, but to miles per hour.

It is the "Not Over 50" club's aim, he told his listeners, to cut down automobile accidents by securing the active co-operation of all drivers in the interests of safety.

In his talk, entitled, "A Rendezvous with Life," Lippincott said, in brief: "The present situation requires the preservation of three things—material, manpower and morale."

"In many of our automobile accidents men in industry are being killed and injured—men whom it is hard to replace."

"Statistics show that out of 34,000 killed in automobile accidents, 15,000 were employed. How to prevent employees of industry from being killed and injured in automobile accidents is a more than ordinarily important question this year. A speeding automobile that kills a member of a family is just as disturbing to home morale as a speeding bullet."

"In September 271 persons were killed in bombing raids in Great Britain. Four states in the United States—Illinois among them—had more fatalities than that from auto accidents during the month."

"Each individual must act as his own policeman in bringing down that toll. There were 27,860 killed in the first nine months of this year—an increase of 17 percent, or 41 more than in the corresponding period last year. In Illinois there were 1,819 killed—or 171 more."

"During the month of September there was a little falling-off in that total. Only 14 per cent more were (continued on page 4)

The Observer

What's become of the old-fashioned mothers who would treasure a baby shoe and a baby curl for years and years?

Looks like we're having our Indian summer now, complete with blue haze in the distance, 'n' everything. Highway crews are taking advantage of the mild weather to patch up cracks in the concrete and roll out the—snow fence.

Seems a little early for Thanksgiving this week. Whereas in our younger days the kids in grade school used to sing that song about "the horse knows the way to carry the sleigh" and kind of anticipate going over to Gramma's for Thanksgiving turkey, nowadays Grandpa just dumps another quart of alkyl in the radiator and he and Gramma steam over to share pot luck with the kids and kiddies. Guess the old-fashioned dinners sorta "went out" of style along with the old-fashioned wood-burning kitchen range.

When a woman started out to "keep the home fires burning" in the old days, she wasn't fooling. She really had a career in front of her. . . . And the toughest part about it was trying to get Pa and the boys to do a little wood splitting and bringing-in once in a while "No wood—no dinner" was a famous dictum in those days.

Gosh, doesn't seem as though Christmas could be on the way. It's hard to put one's mind on Xmas cards when the weather finally starts getting warm, for the first time this fall.

If you've ever wondered why the pioneer settlers gave thanks for the beauty of the "golden corn," take a look at the exhibits entered by Wayne Drom in the recent Future Farmers fair at Wauconda and now on display in the show window at Williams Dept. store. To the European, "corn" meant mainly the nodding heads of wheat—but to the American it was the golden, plump-kernelled maize that could be grown in rude clearings in the forest, and that ripened into bountiful harvests to provide hominy, and cornmeal mush and johnny cake for the winter months. The golden corn is a truly American product—one that has helped in no small way to build the prosperity of the middle west—and like the pioneer and his predecessor, the Indian, we can be truly thankful for it.

Playing Politics

With the widespread confusion existing in Washington and the daily increasing lag in defense preparations, one would suppose that President Roosevelt's official family would have little time or thought for playing politics.

Those who think so are mistaken. Mr. Roosevelt has said much about subordinating politics to the national emergency—but he means it only for his opponents. Not a word of reprimand has he issued to his own boys—many close associates—for their efforts to make political capital out of the critical needs of the Nation.

For instance, Democratic Chairman Ed. Flynn has sung but one tune: only Democrats can be patriotic—Republicans are traitors—elect only Democrats. We seem to recall that in 1918 Woodrow Wilson said something like that and the Republicans captured the House of Representatives.

Another example of New Deal politics is the snide work of that angelic Marylander, Eugene Casey, liaison officer between the White House and Agricultural Department, who put over a rider barring Farm Security Administration employees from Civil Service. Casey in last year's campaign had the job of organizing the farmers for Roosevelt. Undoubtedly he found he could put the Farm Security Administration organization to good use—and undoubtedly wants to do so again, free of any Civil Service restraints.

And still another instance was the effort New Dealers made to keep Congress from cutting down relief appropriations. It is an anomaly that at a time when a labor shortage exists, the Federal Government should continue its huge WPA system. But those on relief have been used to good New Deal advantage in previous campaigns and no doubt will be again.

Is it any wonder folks down in Washington just take for granted that Mr. Roosevelt already is running for a fourth term?

Mrs. R. Again

In a recent speech, Mrs. Roosevelt made two statements which attracted our attention.

Newspaper accounts (we didn't listen to the speech) stated that Mrs. Roosevelt said, "A move to mobilize the public against waste will be made during Defense Week." No one can quarrel with this plan. But we think Mrs. Roosevelt might render a more signal service if she used her influence to mobilize the Administration against waste. What about the kind of waste exposed by Representative Engel in the building of the cantonments for the draft army—waste running into hundreds of millions of dollars? Or the daily waste in our production effort from strikes?

Mrs. Roosevelt also said that all individuals in the United States must be "mentally, morally, and physically prepared for the sacrifices and suffering entailed in the task" of world reconstruction. She said they were not yet prepared.

What we wonder is this: "Where was Mrs. R. during the long years of the New Deal when our people's present apathetic, I'm-owed-a-living philosophy was carefully and scientifically indoctrinated in the people?" In other words, we think any moral flabbiness which Mrs. Roosevelt can spot today is the direct result of the New Deal which she has so strongly espoused.

It would be more gracious of the President's wife to leave any discussion of a new philosophical indoctrination to those not imbued with the old.

Unfair to Spies

Foreign agents bent on retarding Uncle Sam's mounting armament production are in for a tough time. Defense factories are installing so many foolproof protective features that the most resourceful spy is apt to find that he's licked before he begins.

In addition to high fences, floodlights, guards and other customary measures of protection, industry is going to extra lengths to insure continuous, safe production of armaments. Whenever possible, factories are being built in clearings in wooded, rolling country to make camouflage easy. Bomb-proof windows, extra fire walls, double-locked doors and blackout equipment are being provided in many instances. Plant visitors are checked in and out of the building and are often watched carefully all the time they are on the premises. Power rooms are heavily guarded to prevent sabotage.

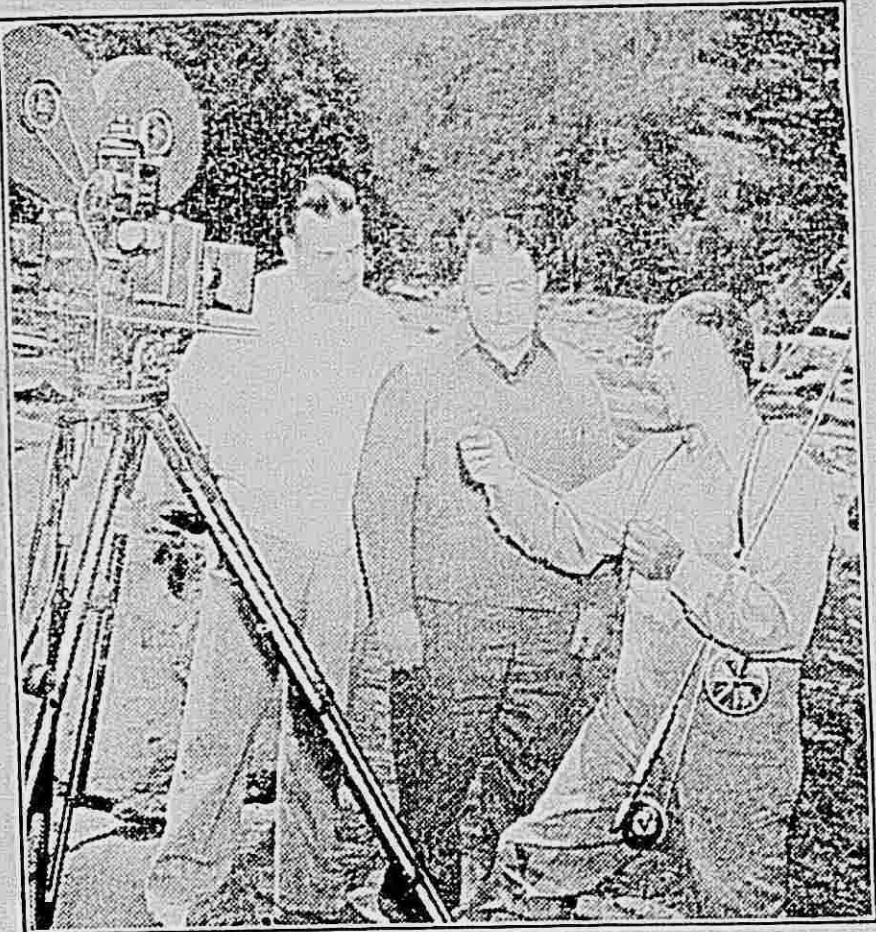

Today American industry is not only inventing and manufacturing secret weapons; it's doing everything it can to keep them secret.

"Social Reforms"

One of the most depressing signs of the times is the calf-like docility of the American people in accepting so-called "social reforms" which they know deep in their hearts are wrong in principle. And even when they occasionally tug at the traces and balk a little at the instigation of some particular "reform" foisted on them by their leaders, in a short time their objections become half-hearted and eventually they knuckle down with an air of resignation and an attitude of "what's the use?" From that point on it is but a short step to complete forgetfulness of the original issue and each time that happens they are further softened up for additional and more drastic experiments.

These criticisms have nothing whatsoever to do with the question of national defense. Nearly every patriotic American agrees that an adequate defense program is necessary to the welfare of this country. But defense—what sins are committed in thy name! Also one shudders to think of what sins are yet to be committed in the name of "unlimited" national emergency.

Fly Fishing Champ Turns Movie Star

IT'S SO RARE that you see Tony Accetta, six-time U. S. professional all-around bait and fly casting champion, in the role of a movie star on location. But here is Accetta during filming of "Let's Go Fishing Again," a new fly casting sound movie produced by Fisher Body as a sequel to "Let's Go Fishing."

CHRISTMAS PARTY FOR CHILDREN PLANNED

The annual Christmas party for the children of the township is under way and committees from the Lions club, Athletic club, the various branches of the church and the firemen are planning a very pleasant occasion with gifts and treats for all the children—and of course Santa Claus will be there. There will be carol singing all during the week and prizes will be given for Christmas decorations of homes and grounds to be judged by an impartial committee from out of town. It is hoped that the real spirit of Christmas may prevail and that all may take part in some way.

The history of horses is traceable back to the Tertiary geological period. At that time, there existed a tiny fox-like creature whose several toes helped it to get about on soft, swampy ground, and from this animal evolved the modern horse.

PRAYER AND THANKSGIVING

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 6:5-15; Ephesians 5:20; 1 Thessalonians 5:16-18.
GOLDEN TEXT—Pray without ceasing. In every thing give thanks.—1 Thessalonians 5:17, 18.

Being one with Christ, the Christian finds prayer to be as natural as breathing. As he walks with the Master he talks with Him, praises Him, thanks Him, makes his petitions and his needs known to Him. We feel, however, like Christ's disciples who asked Him to teach them to pray (Luke 11:1).

I. Instruction in Prayer
Approaching the subject from the negative viewpoint, Jesus told them: 1. How Not to Pray (Matt. 6:5, 7). Prayer, which is the highest privilege of the Christian, is beset by some deadly dangers.

a. No hypocritical performance (v. 5). Some who wished to be seen in prayer managed to be in a conspicuous place at the Jewish hours of prayer (nine, twelve, and three o'clock). There, before a crowd, they put on a prayer "show" for the benefit of the onlooking audience. Such a prayer is designed for the ears of men and never reaches God.

b. No vain repetition (v. 7). We do not need to repeat our petitions. God knows our need (v. 8). When repetition is the outpouring of an earnest and urgent heart it means much, but that is different from just repeating phrases.

2. How to Pray (Matt. 6:8, 14, 15; Eph. 5:20; 1 Thess. 5:16-18). Public prayer is sometimes both necessary and proper, but usually our prayer should be:

a. In secret (v. 6). When we pray we should be free from distracting influences or personalities. We are talking to God and should give ourselves entirely over to communion with Him.

b. In faith (vv. 6, 8). God knows what we need even though He waits to be inquired of concerning it. He will answer prayer so as to honor His name in our lives and in our testimony before others.

c. With forgiveness (vv. 14, 15). No one who comes before God with an unforgiving spirit toward his brother is ready to ask God for the forgiveness which he himself so greatly needs.

d. With thanksgiving (Eph. 5:20). To give thanks is altogether fitting as we come to God in prayer. Note that we are to be thankful "always" and "for all things," not just when some special blessing or favor has come to us.

e. Without ceasing (1 Thess. 5:16-18). Union with Christ enables us to pray without ceasing, even as He ever prays for us. This does not call for the constant utterance of words, but the moment by moment prayer of a heart and life lifted to Him. With such praying comes constant rejoicing (v. 16).

II. A Model of Prayer (Matt. 6:9-13).

The prayer which our Lord taught His disciples was intended to be a model rather than a form of prayer. We may repeat it, however, if we put into it the prayer of our hearts.

1. God and His Glory (vv. 9, 10).

Recognizing Him as our Father to whom we may and must come for all things, we in all humility ascribe all honor to Him. Then we pray that His kingdom may come, not only in the future (and we look forward to it), but now, in our own hearts. The true believer wants the will of God done in his own life and throughout the earth, even as it is perfectly done in heaven.

This prayer begins at the proper point. A right relationship with God brings true blessing on earth. The one who prays is now ready to present to God:

2. Man and His Needs (vv. 11-13).

Daily bread is mentioned first, for without it life could not continue. This is the constant need of man, and his great struggle. God is able for that problem, and only He is able. Unless He gives "seed to the sower and bread to the eater" (Isa. 55:10) we are gone.

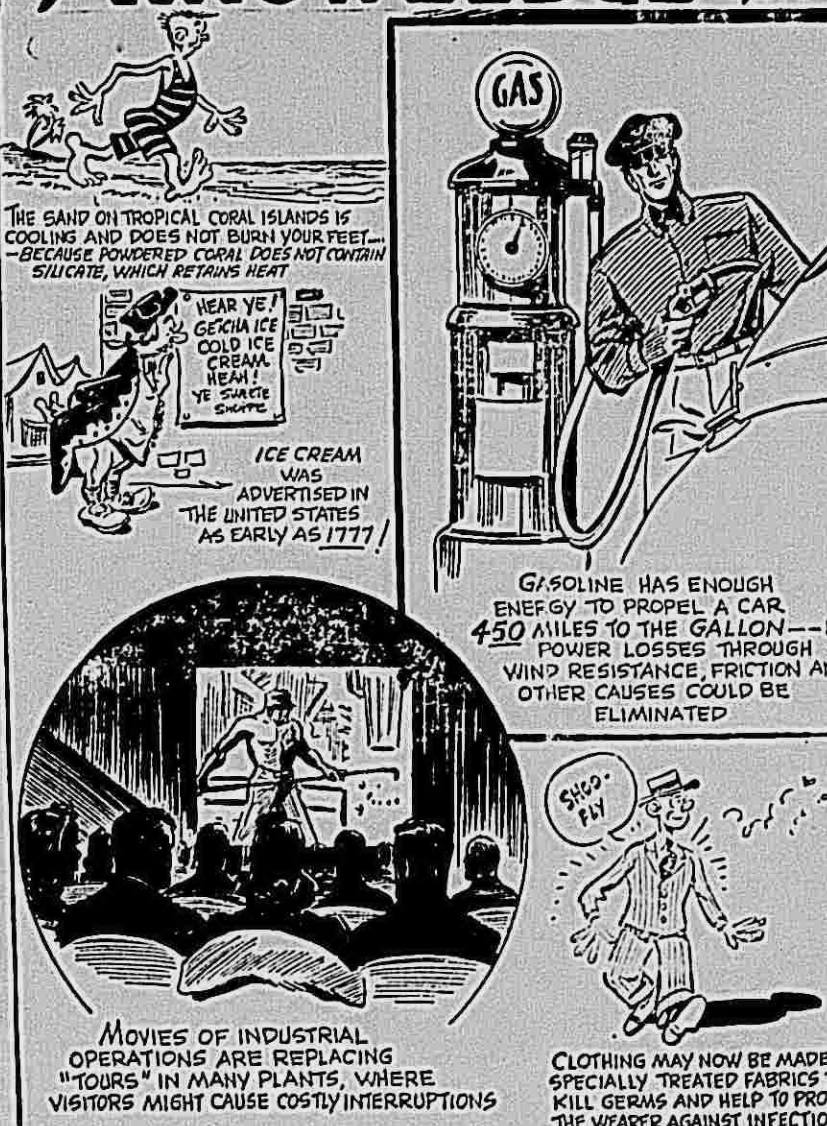

But man has even greater spiritual needs. Sin needs forgiveness, weakness needs strength, the power of the enemy of our souls calls for deliverance. Again God is able and ready to hear man's prayer.

One of the sad things about the study of prayer is that we are all so ready to talk about it, discuss it, even preach about it, and then do so little praying. Knowing how to pray, and admiring a model of prayer, will profit us nothing, unless we pray.

Good Work Never Fails

So, then, Elijah's life had been no failure after all. Seven thousand at least in Israel had been braced and encouraged by his example, and silently blessed him, perhaps, for the courage which they felt. In God's world, for those who are in earnest there is no failure. No work truly done, no word earnestly spoken, no sacrifice freely made, was ever made in vain.—F. W. Robertson.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Mortals and Immortals" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, November 16.

The Golden Text was "As is the earthly, such are they also that are earthly; and as is the heavenly, such are they also that are heavenly" (1 Corinthians 15:48).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Jesus answered, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God. That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit. Marvel not that I said unto thee, Ye must be born again" (John 3:5-7).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Man in the likeness of God as revealed in Science cannot help being immortal. Though the grass seemeth to wither and the flower to fade, they reappear. Erase the figures which express number, silence the tones of music, give to the worms the body called man, and yet the producing, governing, divine Principle lives on,—in the case of man as truly as in the case of numbers and of music,—despite the so-called laws of matter, which define man as mortal" (p. 81).

Libertyville Girl Is Bride of John Edwards

Miss Gertrude Krumrey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Krumrey of Libertyville was united in marriage to John Edwards, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Edwards of Millburn at the St. John's Lutheran church of Libertyville by the Rev. William Lehman on Saturday, Nov. 15, at 3 o'clock.

The bride was attired in brown with matching accessories and a shoulder spray of tea roses and lilies of the valley. Given in marriage by her father, she was attended by Mrs. Archie Krumrey, of Waukegan, who wore gold with brown accessories. Everett Truax of Millburn attended the bridegroom as best man.

Following the ceremony there was a reception for the immediate families at the bride's home. The couple left for a short honeymoon in the Smoky Mountains. They will be at home at 1414 Catalpa street, Waukegan, after December 1.

Red Cross Drive Has Good Response

Because of increased demands on the service of the Red Cross, the Antioch area's quota has been nearly doubled. Mrs. A. P. Bratrude, local chairman of the annual Red Cross drive, states, "For this reason, he observes, the fine response that is meeting the drive this year is also doubly welcome."

Excellent work, she states, has already been done by the following committee members:

GIVE HIM A CHANCE

"Slow Down"....

killed during September. Among cities of 10,000 and over only 6 percent more were killed. This means that the great increase came in the rural sections—along the open highways.

"In the first part of this year the 14 largest cities in the nation had a 2 percent decrease—the rural regions a 25 percent increase."

Lippincott quoted the creed of the "Not over 50 Club"—not over 50 miles an hour on the open road.

"1—Driving at a safe speed at all times. . . 40, 45, but not over 50 miles an hour on the open road.

"2—Knowing and observing my local traffic laws.

"3—Reducing my speed in bad weather, at night, in congested areas and where road conditions warrant.

"4—Observing the right-of-way and driving on the right side of the road.

"5—Using hand signals when turning or stopping.

"6—Passing other cars, only on straight, level stretches where I have ample room.

"7—Never jumping the light.

"8—Watching out for children.

"9—Always remembering that drinking and driving do not mix; and that a slow reaction due to one or two drinks may mean someone's death.

"10—Being courteous to the other fellow and offering assistance whenever possible and under reasonable conditions, to any stranded automobile on which the 'Not Over 50' club emblem appears."

Speed is the main cause of 90 percent of automobile accident fatalities," Lippincott said, basing his statement on the experience of law enforcement officers.

"Cutting in and out of traffic, driving on the wrong side of the road, failure to give signals of intention to stop or turn, passing on curves or hills, and failure to give the other fellow the right of way when he is entitled to it are all contributory causes," he emphasized.

"There hasn't been a city, county or state in the last five years that has reduced its fatalities without reducing the top limit of driving speed," he observed, "and on the other hand, whenever the top limit of driving speed has been reduced, there has been a corresponding drop in fatalities."

"Massachusetts reduced its increase in fatalities from 22 percent to 6 percent by setting a top speed limit of 40 miles an hour—and the week of August 26 passed without a single automobile fatality in the state!"

"It is logical that the collision of automobiles traveling at a high rate of speed will produce more fatalities per accident than that of automobiles traveling at a moderate rate of speed, since the force of the impact is greater. Automobile frames can stand just so much—and the same is also true of the human frame," he concluded.

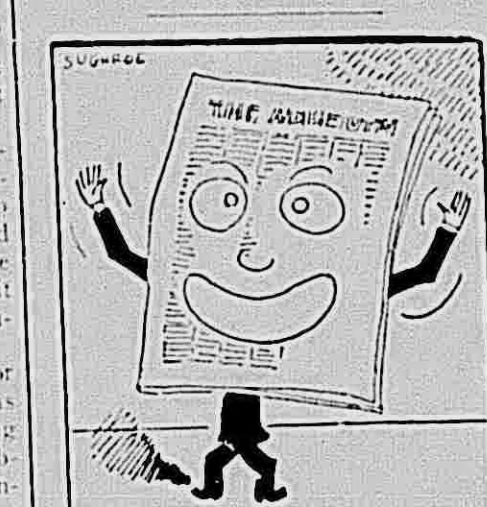

Lippincott has just returned from a speaking tour of the east on which he addressed audiences totaling 32,000 in 15 talks given during one week. He will leave soon on a southern speaking tour on behalf of the "Not Over 50 Club."

Blind Brothers Do All Chores to Keep Farm Going

Aware of Coming Loss of Sight, They Prepare To Carry On.

KAUKANA, WIS.—Every morning Mrs. Nellie Willem's two "boys," Henry and Aloysius, drag themselves out of bed before daylight, fumble in the dark for their clothes, feel their way downstairs and go outdoors to the barn.

There they open the doors so that 27 Guernsey cows can file into neat stalls, filled with hay. Milking, a farm ritual, follows. The brothers' skillful hands soon produce pails of foaming, cream-laden milk. After the other duties of the barnyard are performed, Henry and Aloysius hurry back to the house for the breakfast prepared by their sisters.

These two brothers and their early morning routine are no different from hundreds of other Wisconsin farmers—except that Henry and Aloysius are blind.

Mother Is Invalid.

Henry's life has been shrouded in darkness for 50 years, and Aloysius, who is 35, has been blind for 15 years. Yet despite the handicap, their mother, herself an invalid for the past 14 years, insists that the 197-acre farm would not have stayed in the family if her "boys" had not faithfully remained at home to work for her.

Their disability keeps them from doing field work, but they perform virtually all of the innumerable odd jobs so vital to successful farming. Henry and Aloysius know every inch of their barnyard, where each tool is kept, how each bunch of hay is laid in the mow.

They do their chores confidently and capably, easing the job of the hired man who works in the field. The brothers even venture into the fields on errands, guiding themselves by the wind and contours in the ground rather than by canes or fence rows. They also repair the farm machinery and keep the equipment in adjustment.

Prepared for Blindness.

Henry tells how he discovered that he was going blind, and how he planned to overcome the handicap. He became aware of his plight when he noticed that the top of the barn was blurred against the sky and distant objects dimmed beyond recognition. While he could still see, Henry began preparing for his life of darkness. He memorized the location of everything on the farm, and noted details of operations that he would have to remember for a lifetime. When his sight vanished, Henry had done his job well because he was able to continue his daily tasks without difficulty.

As it became apparent that Aloysius' sight was failing, Henry tutored him in the art of memory. And when blindness came, he, too, was ready and kept right on working.

Three sisters, Elvira, Hilaria and Malvenia, comprise the Willem's family circle. During the busy season the sisters don overalls and help with the field work. But these excursions to the fields are becoming less frequent. The sisters' sight also is failing, and they expect to join their brothers soon in the world of darkness.

Despite this promise of a somber future, the Willem's are a cheerful family, each member co-operating and doing his share to keep the farm operating. Speaking from her wheel chair, white-haired Mrs. Willem's avers that she is proud of the way her "boys and girls" carry on.

Admits Counterfeiting

'To Keep From Stealing'

ST. LOUIS.—Justice does not always sympathize with even a wise chooser of the "lesser of two evils."

That's what Matthew Casey, Negro transient, discovered when he told U. S. District Judge Charles B. Davis he made counterfeit dimes to "keep from stealing."

"I'm a victim of circumstances, Your Honor," Casey explained. "I had to make counterfeit money to keep from stealing."

"Besides," he added, "I only used 'em to get good coins out of slot machines."

Judge Davis fined him $1 and gave him five years in prison.

Police Lights Catch

Bicyclists Like Moths

DENVER.—In their effort to locate boys who do not have proper night equipment on their bicycles, police are resorting to the "moth-flame" trick.

"We found the quickest way to capture violators was to draw up somewhere at night, touch the siren a couple of times and turn on the red lights. Those we were seeking came pedaling almost into our arms," one officer explained.

Goes to Donate Blood,

Is Given Transfusion

MIAMI.—"This is the blood bank, isn't it?" asked an anemic-looking man.

"That's right," said the doctor. "Lie on the table over there."

Later the little man arose. "Why, I feel better!" he exclaimed. "Loss of blood hasn't weakened me at all."

"Loss of blood?" gasped the doctor. "You looked so weak we gave you a pint."

Joke Gets No Laughs,

But Brings Down Roof

LONG BEACH, N. Y.—Mrs. Rose Lucas was playing mah jongg at the home of Mrs. Constance Peters. Between moves Mrs. Lucas told a story that failed to click.

"That," said one with sarcasm, "brought down the roof." Then something gave way overhead and the ceiling fell in.

Finds Prosperity Hard to Believe

Boom Town in Louisiana Is Still Puzzled.

ALEXANDRIA, LA.—The whole nation may be feeling a moderate prosperity from national defense, but the overturning of the horn of plenty on defense boom towns like Alexandria still has residents blinking in astonishment.

In 1940 Alexandria was getting along fine with its population of 27,000. Today, as far as population is concerned, there are two cities where one used to be, estimates numbering present inhabitants at more than 54,000.

Hammer, saw, levels and T-squares—wielded by crews and crews of construction workers—have been building $60,000,000 worth of army camp housing outside the city over a space of six months.

And business—well, boom is too mild a word. For one month this year motor vehicle permits were 222.2 per cent higher than for the same month last year, and building permits were up 267 per cent. There is a $900,000 federal housing project for defense workers and military men and private housing also is being rushed.

On Saturday afternoons the cause of the city's strange new clang and clatter becomes evident as floods of khaki-clad youths flow into the streets and fill every public building and place of recreation. Walking and riding, they head for the movie houses, bars, pool rooms, cafes, libraries, depots, shooting galleries and the city hall lawn.

The old town isn't what it used to be? Why, it isn't even the same place. New sewer systems, new water mains, additional electricity lines are going up. The city has fortune tellers, carnivals, tattoo artists, and commuters from 90 miles away—things it never saw before.

Time Is Nothing After 69-Year Checker Play

ANTIGO, WIS.—Want to forget there is such a thing as time? Take up checkers.

That advice comes from W. J. Zahl, 84 years old, who has been playing the game for 69 years. Time, he asserts, no longer troubles him.

Almost any evening you might find Zahl's white head bent over a checkerboard at his home here. There might be an opponent opposite him, or he might be studying a move in one of the matches that he carries on by mail.

In either case, it's a good bet that the other fellow is about to lose a king or be bottled up in a corner, for Zahl has few peers on what he calls the "magic board."

Zahl takes great pride in his library of checkers publications. On his shelves are first editions of a number of magazines devoted to the game, most of them now out of print, and collections of checkers problems gathered from throughout the world.

The veteran refuses to be hurried in a match. A mail contest with a Californian lasted a year. He has been known to spend weeks studying a puzzling situation. Zahl doesn't like tournaments.

"To much rush," he protests. "The game loses much of its value when you are hurried."

Cupid Seems to Haunt

Same Secretarial Office

MINERAL WELLS, TEXAS.—Miss Dolores Groves, 18 years old, approached her boss, E. D. Hightower, manager of the Retail Merchants' association, and told him she was resigning to get married.

Three days later his second secretary, Miss Doris Evans, 20, offered her resignation. She, too, planned to marry.

Since that time he has been swamped with applications from young women—presumably—seeking employment.

Hightower wasn't certain whether he had a credit association or a bureau for lonely hearts.

Second Tarpon Jumps

Into Fisherman's Boat

FORT MYERS, FLA.—Lightning may not strike twice in the same place, but at least one fisherman has had two fish jump into his boat.

W. Ashby Jones, veteran angler, and his guide, Newt Roan, reported that the second tarpon within two weeks had sought "shelter" aboard their boat. Jones said he was trying to land a "big one" when the tarpon leaped from the water, landed in his tackle box.

Jones said his lifetime catch totaled more than 3,000 tarpon. "And that doesn't include the two which jumped aboard," he said.

Lost Graveyard Is Hunted; Scene Of Eerie Legends

Shade of Lovely Lady Said
To Stroll With Three Headless Spaniards.

CHARLESTON, S. C.—The lost graveyard of Bald Head, where the shade of a lovely lady is said to stroll in the moonlight accompanied by three headless Spaniards, is the object of an exciting search launched by a troop of Greenboro (N. C.) Boy Scouts.

Bald Head island—officially Smith's island—was the earliest settled point on the lower North Carolina coast. It lies at the mouth of the Cape Fear river, off Southport. The original settlers were pirates, and doubtless picked the island because of its strategic location athwart the coastal trade routes.

Drove Pirates Out.

America's first Charles Town was settled on Cape Fear, six miles above Bald Head. But the pirates made things so hot for the settlers that they moved their town to the Cooper river mouth in South Carolina and subsequently contracted the name to Charleston.

Settlers eventually overcame the pirates and drove them out. For a few years the island was a law-abiding community. Then the mainland town of Smithville—now Southport—was founded, and gradually Bald Head's residents moved over to it.

For years the island was uninhabited, save for lighthouse keepers and Coastguardsmen. The jungle reclaimed the cleared lands of the settlers, including the graveyard where rested the bones of the early settlers, honest and otherwise. Among the simple headstones was a more pretentious vault of red brick. The bricks were brought from England with those for St. Phillip's church at Orton's Plantation, a few miles away.

Shade of Burr's Daughter.

The lady ghost who walks the sands of Bald Head supposedly is the shade of Mrs. Theodosia Burr Alston, daughter of Aaron Burr, and wife of an early South Carolina governor. Mrs. Alston left Charleston on the sloop Patrick, bound for New York. Shortly after a violent storm struck the Carolina coast and the Patrick never was seen again. Many believed she went aground on Cape Fear shoals off Bald Head, and that the pirates captured all aboard, including Mrs. Alston, a reigning beauty of her day.

As to the three headless Spaniards, even legend is cloudy. It is generally conceded that they were pirates. Perhaps they lost their heads in combat with their fellow buccaneers. Anyhow, according to legend, they now roam on Bald Head with a troop of Greensboro Boy Scouts hard on their heels.

Farmer Discovers Cache

Of Ancient Treasures

WINNIPEG, MANITOBA.—D. J. Prystach, a High Bluff farmer, isn't saying exactly where he found it, but he claims to have discovered a rich store of treasure, seemingly looted from white men by Indians and buried on an island in the Assiniboine river during a bloody battle between rival redskin tribes more than 180 years ago.

Prystach said he first discovered an old cedar log buried deep in the sand on the island. He split the log apart and found bits of colored glass and tiny particles of copper, brass, silver, gold and lead.

He said he then made a second and more startling discovery. He related that he was walking through the bush on his estate when he noticed a stream of water running into a hole in the ground. He enlarged the hole and bared before his eyes was an amazing treasure.

It included, he said, exquisite rings, bracelets, earrings, buckles, chandeliers, goblets, vases, sword hilts, powder horns, knives, trays, kettles, braziers, even bars of gold and silver. Some of the gold bars were stamped with names of famous men who lived 200 years ago, including Governor Lawrence of Acadia.

He Plunges Into Well

And Is Unmissed 5 Days

SOCORRO, N. M.—When Manuel Silva started to help flood rescue workers he fell into a 30-foot well—and nobody missed him until the flood was over.

For five days Silva was in the well while his family believed he was fighting the flood.

Finally boys heard him shouting for help from the well near his home.

Except for hunger and exhaustion Silva suffered no ill effects.

Army Food Complaints

Are Laid to Sweet Tooth

Memphis.—If you mothers get a complaint or army food from your boy in camp, it's more than likely the yearning of his "sweet tooth."

The army's food is good and there's plenty of it, Second Army Commander Lieut. Gen. Ben Lear said; but—

"Frequently complaints are due to a schoolboy desire to persuade mothers to send them a batch of homemade cookies or fudge," he added.

The Abundant Life

CHRIST JESUS declared (John 10: 10), "I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly." What an inspiring promise is contained in this statement! But men, while quick to see the promise which engenders within the heart a hope of fulfillment, often fail to prove practical this promise of the Master.

If we have failed individually to prove the truth of this promise, we may be helped by considering how far we have applied the rules which Jesus has given for experiencing abundant life. The difficulty may have come from reading into his words a material concept of abundance for oneself, as a surplus of material holdings. But the latter concept certainly conflicts with Jesus' precept (Luke 12:15), "A man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth." Another reason for the failure of mankind to perceive the abundance of good in our present experience may be the mistaken supposition that the Master's promise was limited to his immediate followers. But those today who wish to prove true his promises, may, as Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, says on page 92 of "Restoration and Introspection," "unloose the fetters of his Christliness, inherit his legacy of love, and reach the fruition of his promise: 'If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you.'"

Thus it may be perceived that abundant life is not to be found in material goods, chattels, or possessions, nor was it confined to Jesus' contemporaries. Then it may be asked, "If the abundant life does not consist of physical comforts and material possessions, just what is the life which Jesus promised was to be had 'more abundantly'?" The answer to this question may be found by contemplating Jesus' own declaration. Do not his words imply that the manifestation or unfoldment of the Christ, Truth, in individual consciousness reveals God as the only Life, and that those who would be his followers must gain an understanding of Life as God, as a prerequisite to having or manifesting life "more abundantly"?

This brings up another point for consideration if we would prove the promise of Jesus, namely, adherence to the rules which he gave for our guidance. In his Sermon on the Mount the Master said (Matthew 6:31, 33): "Take no thought, saying, What shall we eat? or, What shall we drink? or, Wherewithal shall we be clothed? . . . But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you." And the Master proved what he said; for he demonstrated the abundance of needful supply, in feeding multitudes on more than one occasion, in arranging for the payment of taxes, and in providing for the last supper with his disciples and the breakfast on the shore of the Sea of Galilee.

It is well for us to ask ourselves, "Are we taking thought—that is, worrying or being doubtful—as to where or how or when our human need will be met?" It is well, too, to ask ourselves, "What are we seeking?" Do we desire to satisfy our selfish wants rather than our actual needs? Are we coveting personal adornment, material success? Do we chafe in our employment or our environment? Or are we striving to understand God better, to recognize and exemplify the attributes of His divine nature? Are we earnestly seeking to express good qualities in daily experience? Are we really trying to be more loving and kind, more tolerant and patient, more willing, helpful, and obedient, in our daily contact with others? To express the qualities of the divine nature is to have life "more abundantly," for these demonstrate that of which spiritual existence is comprised. . . .

INVITE WINDSORS TO MAKE ANOTHER AMERICAN TOUR

One of the finest news photos taken of the Duke and Duchess of Windsor shows them leaving the White House. The Duke has been smoking the cigar given him by President Roosevelt out of the latter's humidor for distinguished guests.

The Duke and Duchess of Windsor have received scores of invitations to visit sections of the United States not covered in their first extended tour. Their return is debatable, although it is considered quite probable, in society and political circles, that the Duchess hopes to visit relatives and friends soon again; and, presumably, during the winter season, the royal couple may dash over from Nassau for some event in Florida, as they did in the 1940-41 season. Meanwhile, all sections of the British Empire are clamoring to greet the principals in "the world's greatest romance." The Duke remains England's "super-salesman" and good will ambassador.

WILMOT

At the Wilmot P. T. A. meeting Tuesday evening, Mrs. Roy Swenson gave an outline of topics which were brought up at the National conference, which Mrs. Swenson and Mrs. Ross Schenning attended.

M. M. Schnurr, high school principal, gave a short talk on Adult Education and an attempt to organize classes in adult education is under way. Courses will be offered in Home Economics by Miss Ruth Bosselman; Mr. Schnurr, Agriculture; Miss Mildred Berger, Commercial work; Mr. Frank, World Problems, and Miss Weinans, Spanish.

The Wilmot P. T. A. is sponsoring this educational attempt for adults and happy results are expected from the enthusiasm shown by the large attendance present at the meeting.

A discussion on the Price of Peace, by Herbert Frang held great interest for everyone.

A group of songs were sung by Miss Genevieve Kohler, after which a social hour was enjoyed and a delightful lunch was served by the Mmes. Edith Weaver, chairman; M. Brooks, A. J. Lubeno, E. Pait, and Chas. Dean.

At the December 8th meeting, the teachers will serve as hostesses on the committee, with Miss Ruth Bosselman acting as chairman.

Miss Erminie Carey has purchased the large barn owned by Louis Schmidt, which was located at the rear of his repair shop. The building will be moved to the Carey estate, several yards from its present location.

Mrs. Herbert Sarbacher, accompanied by Mrs. Art Panknin, Silver Lake, was at Mt. Horeb, for the day, on Friday.

The electric wiring in the newly remodeled I. O. O. F. hall is nearly completed and plans are under way for a grand opening, very soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Winn Peterson motored to Belvidere, Ill., for a visit at the home of Mrs. Peterson's brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Kinnead.

Mrs. William Wertz is at Fond du Lac for several days to attend the hearing on the estate of Mr. Wertz' father.

Misses Erminie and Grace Carey were in Chicago for the day Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Schenning and daughter, Rose, have moved to Silver Lake, where they will temporarily make their home with Mrs. F. H. Schenning, during the winter months.

Mrs. Leland Hegeman underwent an operation at the Keosha hospital Wednesday morning.

The Union Grove basketball team will play Wilmot on Wednesday, Nov. 19, at the Wilmot gymnasium.

Velma Richards of Bristol and George Falt of Silver Lake, both juniors at the Wilmot High school, were crowned Queen and King of the High school carnival, which was held Friday evening.

A large crowd was in attendance and a dance followed the many games and shows which took place during the evening. A great number of door prizes were won by many who were there.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry McDougall were visitors in Milwaukee Saturday.

Al Sarbacher, Milwaukee, spent Saturday with his mother, Mrs. J. Sarbacher, at the home of the Herbert Sarbachers.

Food Demonstrations at Store Attract Much Interest This Week

Interested housewives are enjoying the food demonstrations being conducted this week in R. E. Mann's grocery store by Miss V. J. Oates, home economist for the S&W food products company.

This is Miss Oates' second visit to Antioch, since she conducted a similar demonstration at Mann's store the first week in August.

Among the food products being demonstrated are canned fruits, canned vegetables, mince meat, jellies, marmalades, fruit and vegetable juices, spiced fruit and coffee.

Before accepting her present position with the S&W company, Miss Oates operated a tea room in Chicago. She has also lectured and given food demonstrations for clubs and other organizations.

She is enthusiastic about the fine quality of S&W foods. "The housewife can always rely on the quality of these products," she says.

Miss Oates will be at the store through Friday and Saturday of this week.

Sequoits Drop Basketball Game to Libertyville

First and Second Teams Both Lose Season Starter

(By Martha Winch)

The Sequoits got off to a bad start Friday when they lost to Libertyville, 37-18. The second team, too, started its season with something to live down when it was licked by the Wildkittens, 37-11.

Barnstable made Antioch's lone basket during the first half, and at intermission Libertyville was leading 16-3.

Antioch's line bucked up as the third quarter began and Jim Jones made 3 baskets, while Jim Roepenack aided the Sequoits with a field goal and Jack Fields contributed a successful free throw. While these helpful scores were being posted for Antioch, the Wildkittens ran their score up by an additional 11 points.

During the last quarter 9 points more toward the Antioch total were added—the biggest scoring drive of the game for the Antioch team.

Jim Jones and Dale Barnstable each scored five baskets, thus tying for the highest scores on the losing side, while Howard Huffman took top place for Libertyville with 10 baskets.

Ellis three scores were high for the Sequoit second team, which was inexperienced and ill-at-ease in ball-handling and all-around play.

Student Council Members Attend District Meeting

(By Rose Marie Zellhofer)

Seven members of the Student Council of Antioch Township High School attended the annual convention of the Northwestern District of the Illinois Association of Student Councils at Highland Park High School, Highland Park, last Saturday.

At 9:00 a. m. registration took place at Shields Hall, and at 10:00 an opening meeting was held in the auditorium. A panel discussion on "What Are Student Councils For?" was led by Chairman Jack Streicher of Lane.

Members of the panel were Patty Trueller, Sullivan; John Henes, Steinmetz; Pat Colvan, Maine; Mr. M. Gaffney, principal of New Trier High School; and Mr. C. Erickson, adviser to student council at North Park Academy. At 11:30 the students and faculty members attended the banquet, and afterwards Professor L. O. Garber, Professor of Education, Lake Forest College, Lake Forest, gave an address on "What the Student Council Should Mean to the High School Student."

In the afternoon discussion groups met. Jennie Neweller, Antioch, led the discussion group on Small Schools. At 3:00 p. m. election of officers took place. Amendments to the constitution were discussed, and it was decided that the secretary should send out reports of the meeting to all schools within a month after the convention.

Adjournment took place at 5:00 o'clock after a concluding speech by the former president of 1941, George De Walt of Downers Grove.

The students who went from Antioch were Laurel Sobel; Helen Lyverla; Sammy Klass; Ella Faye; Rose Marie Zellhofer; Gertrude Horton; and Jennie Neweller. Mr. Austin drove the students to Highland Park.

Teachers to Enjoy Their Holiday, Too

(By Rose Marie Zellhofer)

The Thanksgiving holidays draw many of the faculty members away from their homes in Antioch to distant cities and states.

Principal and Mrs. J. O. Austin and family will spend their vacation at their parents' home, at Norris, City, Ill. Miss Tautges will eat her Thanksgiving dinner at the home of her parents in Minneapolis, Minn. Mr. and Mrs. Edwards plan to go to the home of Mrs. Edwards' parents at Cowden, Ill. Miss Lyne will indulge in turkey at Madison, Wis. Miss Ross, Miss Olson, Miss McDorman, and Miss Larimer intend to remain in Illinois, but will go to the homes of their parents at Wapella, Evanston, Bloomington, and Pana, respectively.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Knill and family are going to the Badger state to Mr. Knill's sister at Racine. Mr. Weiss is going to the home of his parents at South Bend, Ind., while Mr. and Mrs. Weinberger will tackle their turkey at their home in Antioch. Mr. and Mrs. Von Holstede and family will stay at home and entertain a former coach of Antioch Township High School, Coach Sutor, now of Lane Tech.

Most of the students will remain at home to stuff themselves with turkey and cranberry sauce.

Heredity

Betty's mother had visited school. Walking home with her little daughter, she said:

"Betty, I noticed the teacher thought Bobby's written work was so good she had it on display."

"Yes, Mother."

"Why didn't she have any of your work on display?"

"I guess maybe it wasn't as good as Bobby's, Mother."

"Why not? You have the same opportunities, don't you?"

"Yes, Mother, but Bobby comes from a very bright family."

He Asked for It

Minister's wife: "Where have you been for the last three hours?"

Minister: "I met Mrs. Blank on the street and asked her how her married daughter was getting along."

"Well?"

"She told me."

Diplomacy

Jimmy had returned from a party, and his mother, knowing his weakness, looked him straight in the eye and asked:

"Are you sure you didn't ask for a second piece of cake?"

To which he replied:

"No, Mother, I only asked Mrs. Smith for the recipe, so you could make some like it, and she gave me two more pieces of her own accord."

Air Cadet Eludes Death by Miracle

Thrown From His Plane, He Lands on It Again.

BELLEVIEW, ILL.—A freak air accident gave a young army flying cadet a quick look at death the other day, then miraculously saved him.

The youth, Cadet Victor Woodruff, 23, of Three Oaks, Mich., was thrown from an army training plane as it struck "bumpy" air over an airport here. He somersaulted through the air and landed well back toward the tail assembly. Riding the fuselage like a cowboy, he was brought safely to earth by his instructor at the controls of the ship.

Woodruff was on a training flight from Curtiss Wright air field, army training base near St. Louis, where he is a student in the air corps training detachment at Parks Air college. Piloting the ship was Instructor David Mattis, 26, of St. Louis, a veteran aviator. The plane was a two-seated, open-cockpit Fairchild PT19. The fliers were at an altitude of 500 feet when the accident occurred as they were coming down to land at an auxiliary field.

Unbeknown to Woodruff, his safety belt had become unfastened and when the plane flew into a sudden down draft it literally dropped out from under the cadet, who was in the back cockpit. The plane fell faster than he did, leaving him in the air. As he plunged downward, his body described a somersault and a half turn. The plane, dropping straight down, was directly under him when it apparently hit the bottom of the down draft.

When the youth struck the tail he quickly forked his legs over either side of the fuselage just ahead of the rudder. With his feet into the cockpit, he dug his feet into the covering until his heels tore holes in it, hanging on grimly as he looked out into space. When the plane came to a stop on the airport, Woodruff stepped off his precarious perch and took a look at his heel holes in the fabric. After a physical examination that showed he was unhurt, he went as usual to his ground crew classes.

Girl Jots Down Notes As Death Approaches

LIVERPOOL.—Writing a letter to her sweetheart as bombs were falling all around her house, a girl described the last moments of five persons.

It is believed that a few minutes after she had put her pen aside a bomb fell on the house, killing her father, mother, aunt and a friend.

"This is what the girl was writing—

"The warning has just gone and the guns are going. I wish you were here with me. Every time they dive I go sick inside."

"I am going to read your letter and see if it will give me a bit of luck."

The letter went on to tell of the crump of bombs falling nearby, and concluded:

"I am now lying under the table. We have just had an incendiary bomb in the yard. My hand is shaking."

The girl's body was found next day wrapped in a tablecloth.
